Central Office Notes ~ The Honolulu Story ...

Jan. 7, 1944 Shop—Pearl Harbor

Dear Central Office:

Received your letter of Dec. 27 and the list of groups yesterday, and your letter of Dec. 29 with the clippings, today. You have no idea how much your letters mean. ... I was feeling very low yesterday. All has not been clear sailing in Honolulu. On Thursday, Dec. 30, we had a meeting—5 people present out of 9 expected. Two phoned in good reasons, but 2 more were unaccounted for. However, we all felt pretty confident; then things began to happen the very next day.

One of the 5 started drinking again. We'll call him B—and I really like the fellow a great deal. He has a university education, and has traveled all over the world. He stopped off in Honolulu 14 years ago, after a trip to the Far East, for a 2-week vacation, and started on a binge that didn't end until he was broke and stranded here. He became a typical tropical tramp: 14 years of drinking, jails, hospitals, and getting fired from one job after another. For a year before the war he slept on a lauhala mat on a platform built in a banyan tree. The war, with blackout and curfew, chased him out of his aerial roost, and with jobs plentiful he began to make sincere efforts to beat the jinx. So far he's lost every bout, but some of us who have been successful so far in A.A. have won his confidence, and he has the two main requisites for sobriety: he freely admits he's alcoholic (has read and studied all he could find on his problem), and he sincerely wants to quit. As he's asking for help, we'll naturally continue to do everything we can for him.

Next I heard another member, whom I'll call D, was off. This really hurt. It was he who instituted our dinners together, and we all had high hopes for him. When we contacted him first he was fresh off a binge ... didn't have money for room rent or even the next meal. We helped him out and he went to work. He repaid us, not only the money we had loaned him, but he was the making of the organization here; his enthusiasm seemed contagious to the rest of us. You can imagine my disappointment when I heard he was drinking. He'd been a professional man with a fine educational background, including postgraduate work in Europe ... once a leader in his field in a Western city. There he became alcoholic. He had himself committed to a state mental hospital, and after his release managed to get an appointment with a C.C.C. outfit—but started drinking their medical alcohol and was discharged. More hospitals and sanitoriums—more jobs lost—then the war started and he volunteered for work in the Islands. Men in his profession were so badly needed his record was overlooked, but a month or so passed and he started drinking again. Of course the day soon came when he couldn't trust himself on the job. Flown to Honolulu, to the Territorial Mental Health Clinic, he sobered up temporarily—but for the last 15 months he's been around here pulling one drunk after another. He's worked as a painter, a cab driver (till he smashed the cab on a bender), a common laborer, or anything else he could pick up in his sober intervals.

Well, that left 3 from the meeting of 5: Pete, Dick, and me. Meanwhile I'd checked on one of the unaccounted ones, a boy called H. After being dry 6 weeks, he'd talked himself into the idea that it would be O.K. to put a little whiskey in some hot lemonade he was drinking for a cold. With that start he landed in the hospital in bad shape. I went to see him. He told me he knew A.A. had the right answers for him and had been analyzing himself with the help of the doctor and nurses (they're all cooperating with us in that hospital) to see where he'd failed to apply the program correctly. I left my copy of the book with him, and went back to see him yesterday—found him with 2 other alkie deeply absorbed in a discussion of the book. One of them said he'd be out and at our next meeting—the other was a woman.

I am especially pleased about the woman. She'd read the book through, and told me her story. It seems she started drinking heavily while still in her teens, and—became an alcoholic in her twenties. She became a connoisseur of sanitoriums all over the U.S. Came here, hoping to quit by changing localities. Has sobered up in almost every hospital in Honolulu, some of them several times. Recently quit for a couple of months and thought she had it licked ... but soon was feeling too good, took that fatal first drink and then went ahead and drank herself back in the hospital. She says she'll be at the meeting next week, so maybe we've made a start among the lady alcoholics in Honolulu.

However, even after that visit, I wasn't feeling too well. I was too discouraged. I even had some vague idea of calling up the others and telling them our next meeting was off. So I went back and talked with Pete. He works with me now, and there's one alkie who's really going to town in A.A. He was afraid that I'd start drinking over the disappointments ... he reminded me of the little white card you sent me and told me I should pray for the serenity to accept things I couldn't change. He said we were playing for too high stakes personally to let the failure of others throw us too ...

I am now living in the Central Y.M.C.A. and our meetings are held in the same building. I went there and waited in the lobby. D came in first, a little the worse for wear, but still sure A.A. had his answer and still determined to find it. Then the second unaccounted-for absentee from our last meeting came in, sober but shaky. Pete and Dick came in. They felt that, although it was too bad about the others, the program was working swell for them, and they thought the rest would soon be finding their way around too. And the new man who had met H in the hospital came too. In all we were 6, and we really had an inspiring meeting.

All the A.A.s in Honolulu say Aloha, E.G.

Jan. 12, 1944 Shop—Pearl Harbor

Dear Central Office:

A big part of the troubles I told you of have been ironed out. We're back on the beam and overloaded with inquiries and calls for help. In fact we're overworked and delighted. I can count up 15 people who are definitely under the influence of A.A., and I'm so thrilled at the progress we're making that if I don't shut myself off, this letter will turn into another one of those manuscripts. And I must get my sleep. I can sleep now, thanks to A.A.

Yours, E.G.

We alcoholics are men and women who have lost the ability to control our drinking. We know that no real alcoholic ever recovers control. All of us felt at times that we were regaining control, but such intervals—usually brief—were inevitably followed by still less control ... Despite all we can say, many who are real alcoholics are not going to believe they are in that class. By every form of self-deception and experimentation, they will try to prove themselves exceptions to the rule ...

SLIPS AND HUMAN NATURE ~ By William D. "Silky" Silkworth, M.D.

The mystery of slips is not so deep as it may appear. While it does seem odd that an alcoholic, who has restored himself to a dignified place among his fellowmen and continues dry for years, should suddenly throw all his happiness overboard and find himself again in mortal peril of drowning in liquor, often the reason is simple.

People are inclined to say, "There is something peculiar about alcoholics. They seem to be well, yet at any moment they may turn back to their own ways. You can never be sure."

This is largely twaddle. The alcoholic is a sick person. Under the technique of Alcoholics Anonymous he gets well—that is to say, his disease is arrested. There is nothing unpredictable about him any more than there is anything weird about a person who has arrested diabetes.

Let's get it clear, once and for all, that alcoholics are human beings. Then we can safeguard ourselves intelligently against most slips.

How to get from THERE to HERE

Obviously you can't get from HERE to THERE, because just when you think you have arrived, THERE is just another HERE. The only way is to get from THERE to HERE.

When I got sober [February 28th, 1974] it was normal and customary to give the newcomer a card with these questions to answer. We don't see them much around A.A. anymore but I still find them valuable to the newcomer. Maybe they will help you answer your questions.

~ Love and Peace, Barefoot ~

20 Questions That Only You Can Answer ~ Are You An Alcoholic?

To find out, ask yourself the following questions, and answer them as honestly as you can:

1. Do you lose time from work due to drinking?	Y	N
2. Is drinking making your home life unhappy?	Y	N
3. Do you drink because you are shy with other people?	Y	N
4. Is drinking affecting your reputation?	Y	N
5. Have you ever felt remorse after drinking?	Y	N
6. Have you gotten into financial difficulties as a result of drinking?	Y	N
7. Do you turn to lower companions and an inferior environment when drinking?	Y	N
8. Does your drinking make you careless of your family's welfare?	Y	N
9. Has your ambition decreased since drinking?	Y	N
10. Do you crave a drink at a definite time daily?	Y	N
11. Do you want a drink the next morning?	Y	N
12. Does drinking cause you to have difficulty in sleeping?	Y	N
13. Has your efficiency decreased since drinking?	Y	N
14. Is drinking jeopardizing your job or business?	Y	N
15. Do you drink to escape from worries or trouble?	Y	N
16. Do you drink alone?	Y	N
17. Have you ever had a complete loss of memory as a result of drinking?	Y	N
18. Has your physician ever treated you for drinking?	Y	N
19. Do you drink to build up your self-confidence?	Y	N
20. Have you ever been to a hospital or institution on account of drinking?	Y	N

To find out how you did, count your "YES" answers.

Are you an alcoholic?

If you answered YES to one of the questions, this is a warning that you may be an alcoholic.

If you answered YES to any two, there's a good chance that you are an alcoholic.

If you answered YES to three or more, you are definitely an alcoholic.

Source: The Twenty Questions: Are you an alcoholic? was developed in the 1930s by Dr. Robert Seliger, Department of Psychiatry, Johns Hopkins Hospital, and intended as a self-assessment questionnaire to determine the extent of one's alcohol abuse.

Don't Sweat It!

Most of us, by the time we get around to answering these questions, average more than 15 yes answers ...
I got all 20 ... after my sponsor pointed out that jails are institutions.

Editorial: On the 1st Tradition

"Each member of Alcoholics Anonymous is but a small part of a great whole. A.A. must continue to live or most of us will surely die. Hence our common welfare comes first. But individual welfare follows close afterward."

Our whole A.A. program is securely founded on the principle of humility—that is to say, perspective. Which implies, among other things, that we relate ourselves rightly to God and to our fellows; that we each see ourselves as we really are, "a small part of a great whole". Seeing our fellows thus, we shall enjoy group harmony. That is why A.A. Tradition can confidently state, "Our common welfare comes first."

"Does this mean", some will ask, "that in A.A. the individual doesn't count too much? Is he to be swallowed up, dominated by the group?"

No, it doesn't seem to work out that way. Perhaps there is no society on earth more solicitous of personal welfare, more careful to grant the individual the greatest possible liberty of belief and action. Alcoholics Anonymous has no "musts". Few A.A. groups impose penalties on anyone for non-conformity. We do suggest, but we don't discipline. Instead, compliance or non-compliance with any principle of A.A. is a matter for the conscience of the individual; he is the judge of his own conduct. Those words of old time, "Judge not", we observe most literally.

"But," some will argue, "if A.A. has no authority to govern its individual members or groups, how shall it ever be sure that the common welfare does come first? How is it possible to be governed without a government? If everyone can do as he pleases, how can you have aught but anarchy?"

The answer seems to be that we A.A.s cannot really do as we please, though there is no constituted human authority to restrain us. Actually, our common welfare is protected by powerful safeguards. The moment any action seriously threatens the common welfare, group opinion mobilizes to remind us; our conscience begins to complain. If one persists, he may become so disturbed as to get drunk; alcohol gives him a beating. Group opinion shows him that he is off the beam, his own conscience tells him that he is dead wrong and, if he goes too far, Barleycorn brings him real conviction.

So it is we learn that in matters deeply affecting the group as a whole, "our common welfare comes first." Rebellion ceases and cooperation begins because it must; we have disciplined ourselves.

Eventually, of course, we cooperate because we really wish to; we see that without substantial unity there can be no A.A., and that without A.A. there can be little lasting recovery for anyone. We gladly set aside personal ambitions whenever these might harm A.A. We humbly confess that we are but "a small part of a great whole".

- Result of action(s)
- Hypersensitivity to a substance
- Loss of dignity or pride
- Quality of clear-headedness
- Complete lack of a particular quality
- Personal views, feelings or opinions

Frequently, we read by rote—the mechanical repetition of something so that it is remembered, often without real understanding of its meaning or significance—or, as we have heard so many times, “doing the same thing, in the same way, and getting the same results”. It might be fun to add another dimension by looking at the Twelve Steps from the inside out, one step at a time. Your answers will be found, of course, in “The Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions”—and also in next month’s issue of New Frontiers.

You can know God [as you understand Him]. There is a power greater than ourselves which manifests itself within us as well as everywhere else in the universe. This I call God. Do you know what it is to know God—to have God’s constant guidance—a constant awareness of God’s presence? To know God is to reflect love toward all people and all creations. To know God is to feel peace within—a calmness, a serenity, an unshakeableness which enables you to face any situation. To know God is to be so filled with joy that it bubbles over and goes forth to bless the world. I have only one desire now—to do God’s will for me—there is no conflict. When God guides me to walk a pilgrimage I do it gladly. When God guides me to do other things I do them just as gladly. If what I do brings criticism upon me I take it with head unbowed. If what I do brings me praise, I pass it immediately along to God, for I am only the little instrument through which God does the work. When God guides me to do something I am given strength, I am given supply, I am shown the way, I am given the words to speak. Whether the path is easy or hard I walk in the light of God’s love and peace and joy, and I turn to God with psalms of thanksgiving and praise. This it is to know God. And knowing God is not reserved for the great ones. It is for little folks like you and me. God is always seeking you—every one of you. You can find God if you will only seek—by obeying divine laws, by loving people, by relinquishing self-will, attachments, negative thoughts and feelings. And when you find God, it will be in the stillness. You will find God within.

Dear Central Committee,

It was a pleasure to serve, as your 2011 convention chairman, this body and Alcoholics Anonymous in the western New York as a whole. This year's convention was a success by all measures. We experienced a high number of weekend registrations (between 950 and 1000) and completely filled the banquet hall for the Saturday dinner and speaker (530). This year's addition of a decorating committee made for a festive and socially conducive atmosphere.

The program committee didn't spare any expense to bring in speakers from various parts of the country to carry their message of hope to convention goers. The panels were well attended and informative.

Approximately 10% of convention goers filled out an evaluation sheet. The comments ranged from detailing areas in need of improvement as well as many which stated positive feedback. When asked to rate the convention, 90% said above average or excellent. From the survey sample about 10% were first time attendees.

The convention brought in a surplus of $1640. (See attached balance sheet).

Chairman's comments: I believe we may have outgrown the Marriott hotel. Many of the comments offered on the evaluation forms stated the need for something "bigger" whether it be the dance floor, hospitality room, parking or hallway space. Many people want to attend the banquet speaker without having to attend the dinner, which we can't accommodate due to fire codes restrictions. While I know that it is the responsibility of each convention chairperson to secure a hotel, it might be beneficial for the central committee chairperson to appoint an ad hoc committee to look into accommodations and pricing at other area venues.

Once again, and as always, it is my pleasure to serve AA in WNY.

Yours-in-service,

Mark S.
