TRADITION FOUR

AUTONOMY is a ten-dollar word. But in relation to us, it means very simply that every AA group can manage its affairs exactly as it pleases, except when AA as a whole is threatened. Comes now the same question raised in Tradition One. Isn't such liberty foolishly dangerous?

Over the years every conceivable deviation from our Twelve Steps and Traditions has been tried. That was sure to be, since we are so largely a band of ego-driven individualists. Children of chaos, we have defiantly played with every brand of fire, only to emerge unharmed and, we think, wiser. These very deviations created a vast process of trial and error which, under the grace of God, has brought us to where we stand today.

When AA's Traditions were first published in 1945, we had become sure that an AA group could stand almost any amount of battering. We saw that the group, exactly like the individual, must eventually conform to whatever tested principles would guarantee survival. We had discovered that there was perfect safety in the process of trial and error. So confident of this had we become that the original statement of AA tradition carried this significant sentence: "Any two or three alcoholics gathered together for sobriety may call themselves an AA group provided that as a group they have no other affiliation."

This meant, of course, that we had been given the courage to declare each AA group an individual entity, strictly reliant on its own conscience as a guide to action. In charting this enormous expanse of freedom we found it necessary to post only two storm signals. A group ought not do anything which would greatly injure AA as a whole, nor ought it affiliate itself with anything or anybody else. There would be real danger should we commence to call some groups "wet," others "dry," still others "Republican" or "Communist," and yet others "Catholic" or "Protestant." The AA group would have to stick to its course or be hopelessly lost. Sobriety had to be its sole objective. In all other respects there was perfect freedom of will and action. Every group had the right to be wrong. When AA was still young, lots of eager groups were forming. In a town we'll call Middleton, a real crackerjack had started up. The townspeople were hot as firecrackers about it. Star-gazing, the elders dreamed of innovations. They figured the town needed a great big alcoholic center, a kind of pilot plant AA groups could duplicate everywhere.

Beginning on the ground floor there would be a club; in the second story they would sober up drunks and hand them currency for their back debts; the third deck would house an educational project. . . quite noncontroversial, of course. In imagination the gleaming center was to go up several stories more, but three would do for a start. This would all take a lot of money. . . other people's money. Believe it or not, wealthy townsfolk bought the idea.

There were, though, a few conservative dissenters among the alcoholics. They wrote the Foundation, AA's headquarters in New York, wanting to know about this sort of streamlining. They understood that the elders, just to nail things down good, were about to apply to the Foundation for a charter. These few were disturbed and skeptical.

Of course there was a promoter in the deal. . . a super-promoter. By his eloquence he allayed all fears, despite advice from the Foundation that it could issue no charter, and that ventures which mixed an AA group up with medication and education had come to sticky ends elsewhere. To make things safer, the promoter organized three corporations and became president of them all. Freshly painted, the new center shone. The warmth of it all spread through the town. Soon things began to hum. To insure foolproof, continuous operation, 61 rules and regulations were adopted.

But alas, this bright scene was not long in darkening. Confusion replaced serenity. It was found that some drunks yearned for education, but doubted if they were alcoholics. The personality defects of others could be cured maybe with a loan. Some were club-minded, but it was just a question of taking care of the lonely heart. Sometimes the swarming applicants would go for all three floors. Some would start at the top and come through to the bottom, becoming club members, others started in the club, pitched a binge, were hospitalized, then graduated to education on the third floor. It was a beehive of activity, all right, but unlike a beehive, it was confusion compounded. An AA group, as such, simply couldn't handle this sort of a project. All too late that was discovered. Then came the inevitable explosion. . . something like that day the boiler burst in Wombles' Clapboard Factory. A chill choke-damp of fear and frustration fell over the group.

When that lifted, a wonderful thing had happened. The head promoter wrote the Foundation office. He said he wished he'd paid some attention to AA experience. Then he did something else that was to become an AA classic. It all went on a little card about golf-score size. The cover read: "Middleton Group No. One. Rule No. 62." Once the card was unfolded, a single pungent sentence leaped to the eye: "Don't take yourself too damn seriously." Thus it was that under Tradition Four an AA group had exercised its right to be wrong. Moreover, it had performed a great service for Alcoholics Anonymous, because it had been humbly willing to apply the lessons it learned. It had picked itself up with a laugh and gone on to better things. Even the chief architect, standing in the ruins of his dream, could laugh at himself. . . and that is the very acme of humility.

DOES YOUR GROUP USE THE CONCEPTS?

AA's Twelve Concepts for World Service are so practical. In none of our literature is there theory or dogma--only firsthand experience. Two good examples of such practicality can be found in Concepts III and IV. They contain two of the principles that Bill felt ought to be given the widest latitude in practice, the "Right of Decision" and the "Right of Participation." Concept III reads: "To insure effective leadership, we should endow each element of AA--the Conference, the General Service Board and its service corporations, staffs, committees, and executives--with a traditional 'Right of Decision.'" The "Right of Decision" has proved to be a most practical way for groups to empower delegates to the General Service Conference to act in accordance with their conscience.

But the principles stated in the Concepts, like all our AA principles, are just as applicable in the home group. Our secretary, for example, is empowered through Concept III with the "Right of Decision." We trust in his thoughtful preparation to make announcements appropriate to our meetings--that is, announcements that are AA-related. We trust him not to announce, for instance, that Tom H. will be having a garage sale next weekend and hopes to see everyone there for great bargains-- come early! We trust our program chair whose principal job is to book meetings. We don't tell her what groups or individuals to book but trust her to decide, based, for instance, on how recently a group has sent speakers to us and whether the group is within reasonable commute. Our hospitality team makes regular use of the spirit of the "Right of Decision." They determine what kind of refreshments the group will enjoy and do the buying.

I remember an incident some years ago at my then home group where the "Right of Decision" was a bit manhandled. The chair opened the meeting one night by announcing that the scheduled speaker had not shown up and instead of the usual discussion she had decided, on her own, to put together a three-speaker meeting. Afterward, several people let her know that they had been expecting their regular discussion meeting and were upset. She defended her decision by reminding them that, as chair, it was up to her to make decisions for the good of the group. She felt that the group needed "perking up." So she changed the meeting format.

Concept III states that "we ought to trust our responsible leaders to decide, within the understood framework of their duties, how they will interpret and apply their own authority and responsibility to each particular problem or situation as it arises." True enough, our chair had the final authority within the framework of her duties but by changing the meeting format she had overstepped her authority. Since a group, in its autonomy, decides on the format of its meetings through a legitimate voting process, she had unwittingly challenged the group's autonomy. I am happy to say that this trusted servant rethought the incident and became a wiser and consequently more valued member of the group.

As for Concept IV, the short form reads: "At all responsible levels, we ought to maintain a traditional 'Right of Participation,' allowing a voting representation in reasonable proportion to the responsibility that each must discharge."

I recently witnessed a splendid example of the "Right of Participation" in action at a group in my area of which I was not a member. Opening a group inventory meeting, the chair requested that only members of the group participate; non-members could identify themselves but ought to refrain from commentary. If the chair had asked nonmembers to leave, I would have taken a grand-daddy of a resentment out into the night air. Instead, he invoked a very important part of the "Right of Participation" by recognizing my need to belong. I have also attended business meetings where the presiding officer announced that nonmembers were welcome to stay but must refrain from voting. Thus, thanks to the "Right of Participation," those of us who were not members were made to feel that we belonged, if not to that group, certainly to AA as a whole.

Participation, like the human body, comes in different shapes and sizes. I once heard a woman share at a meeting that she was having a hard time staying sober and couldn't understand why. She said she had a home group and was "very active." What came to light was that most of her activity consisted of participation in outside endeavors, such as the PTA, Red Cross, a home for the elderly, and her neighborhood hospital. As for her AA membership, she attended meetings but did no more. What she didn't understand or had forgotten is that, while all those community activities are admirable, what we are talking about is participation in AA activities. Of course, none of us is forced to do anything in AA. As Concept IV says, my participation in AA activities is a right. I may participate as a member of my group's steering committee or an ad hoc committee, or as an elected officer, or just as a member of the group. Or I may choose not to actively participate at all. But from the moment I declare myself a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, the right to participate in AA activities becomes and remains inalienably mine until the moment I remove myself from the Fellowship of Alcoholics Anonymous. Thanks be to Dr. Bob and Bill for their vision.

Are you aware of the Concepts at work in your home group? Why not hold a meeting to talk about them and their value to your group? If you do, it might be a good idea to announce it in advance. You might ask your GSR to lead it, or your area delegate. You might consider making available a supply of the Conference-approved pamphlet The Twelve Concepts Illustrated, as I have done for workshops. It is informative and what's more, people get a genuine kick out of the drawings. I love pictures, don't you?

In the late stages of our drinking, the will to resist has fled. Yet when we admit complete defeat and when we become entirely ready to try A.A. principles, our obsession leaves us and we enter a new dimension-freedom under God as we understand Him

Let's discuss it

SOME DAY WE HOPE THAT ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS WILL HELP THE PUBLIC TO A BETTER REALIZATION OF THE GRAVITY OF THE ALCOHOLIC PROBLEM, BUT WE SHALL BE OF LITTLE USE IF OUR ATTITUDE IS ONE OF BITTERNESS OR HOSTILITY. DRINKERS WILL NOT STAND FOR IT. AFTER ALL, OUR PROBLEMS WERE OF OUR OWN MAKING. BOTTLES WERE ONLY A SYMBOL. BESIDES, WE HAVE STOPPED FIGHTING ANYBODY OR ANYTHING. WE HAVE TO!

Central Committee Minutes March 7th, 2021

The meeting started at 7:00 PM. We opened with a moment of silence followed by the serenity prayer. The readings read included the AA preamble, The Purpose of Central Committee & the 12 traditions.

18 Groups were represented at the meeting: Depth and Weight, Eye-opener, Step Action, Thruway Group, Lockport #1, Williamsville, Buffalo Group, Action Group, Purpose Group, Room to Grow, Questions and Answers, Lakeshore Group, Women Making the Effort, Tuesday Men's Discussion, Soul Purpose Group, North Evans Men's Group, Lockport Ladies and Iron Horse.

Reports:

Envelope system: $596 collected in February. There are 47 members. (Allen D.)

Steering committee: The steering committee met on March 4th. They discussed possible openings on the committee. The steering committee has recommended postponing the Fall 2021 convention until Fall of 2022.

Financial report: See attached report

Treatment: I've taken on the position of chair for TFC. We are starting to get back into some of the treatment centers, beginning with Stutzman.

I've reached out to quite a few home groups with a pretty good turnout so far. I'm trying to make sure that it's a group effort, making sure Home Group takes on the commitment not just an individual. I have filled every single commitment except for the first Tuesday.

We are going into Stutzman every Tuesday at 8 p.m. so if you guys could spread the word to your home groups, because I'm still waiting to hear back from some that have upcoming business meetings. Once the schedule for Stutzman is fulfilled, I will start on the next facility, expecting to start at ECMC next, trying to not take on too many commitments and fall short in fulfilling our end of bringing in meetings. The only help I need right now is maybe if people could start reaching out to their home groups. If you know of any reps at the home groups please give them my information. (Ashlee)

Corrections: No report and no chair

Central office: Next Page attached

Night-watch: The chair is looking for homegroups to take night-watch commitments. Six homegroup members are needed for a 1 Month commitment. Phone system will be checked to make sure everything is in good working order.

PIC/CPC: No report and no chair

Education and Participation: No report

Internet presence: verbal report

Current convention: No communication from the hotel at this point (Diane D.)

New business:

Recommendation made by the steering committee to postpone Fall 2021 convention until the Fall of 2022. Motion passed!

Discussion was had about having fall 2021 convention virtually. Tom shared some back round information about what it would take to put a virtual convention together.

Announcements:

Next Central Committee meeting will be postponed until April 11th due to the holiday!

Not one of us has been given a torch big enough to lead the drunks of the world out of the darkness and into the light. Instead, each of us has been given a candle that burns for a short while with a flickering flame. If we stand together, the light will outshine the greatest torch. If we argue and bicker and blow at each other's candle so that each of us starts shielding our own little flame, then the alcoholics of the world will continue to suffer in darkness - and so will we.

YTD: 2019

Intergroup wants to express our appreciation for those groups and individuals who have made generous financial contributions, and give a special thank you to all the members who have volunteered their time this year to help the sick and suffering alcoholic.

Tradition Four: Each group should be autonomous except in matters affecting other groups or AA as a whole.

- Do I insist that there are only a few right ways of doing things in AA?
- Does my group always consider the welfare of the rest of AA? Of nearby groups? Of loners in Alaska? Of internationalists miles from port? Of a group in Rome or El Salvador?
- Do I put down other members' behavior when it is different from mine, or do I learn from it?
- Do I always bear in mind that, to those outsiders who know I am in AA, I may to some extent represent our entire beloved Fellowship?
- Am I willing to help a newcomer go to any lengths – his lengths, not mine – to stay sober?
- Do I share my knowledge of AA tools with other members who may not have heard of them?

Concept IV: At all responsible levels, we ought to maintain a traditional "Right of Participation," allowing a voting representation in reasonable proportion to the responsibility that each must discharge.

- Do we understand the spiritual principles underlying the "Right of Participation"?
- What does "in reasonable proportion" mean? Do we understand when it is appropriate for A.A. paid staff to have a vote at the General Service Conference or in our local service structure?
- Do we expect that, because we are A.A. members, we should be allowed to vote at any group, even if we are not active members of that group?

Bill W. wrote of Intergroup Offices, "Though not costly, these agencies are absolutely essential to our continued expansion—to our survival as a Fellowship. Their costs are a collective obligation that rests squarely upon all of us. Our support of services actually amounts to a recognition on our part that A.A. must everywhere function in full strength—and that, under our Tradition of self-support, we are all going to foot the bill."
