Pondering from a Member...

The last time i sent an article to new frontiers was when i had one yr of sobriety. Now at 32 yrs one day at a time, i pondered what was the most important thing in life to me. I think it is probably what most of us want. To loved and be loved.

However, my opinion on this has taken on a whole new meaning for me, due to AA and a god of my understanding. As a kid, even being raised in an alcoholic home, i had good moral teachings, (although sometimes my folks didn't practice what they preached lol). But those morals and values got distorted along the way while drinking, until they became my own interpretation. (Twisted thinking).

As a selfish self-centered alcoholic, while drinking love certainly meant something different to me. It entailed what i could get in return, for or from loving you. I thought i was a very loving giving person, turns out, not so much.

From doing a pretty thorough couple of inventories, and a few mini 4ths along the way, while trying to practice all the steps to the best of my ability 'loving' means more about what my service to others might look like. 'Being loved', i think comes from how well i practice that. I've always loved the 'Wizard of Oz'. One of the last lines in that movie is 'Remember, it's not how much you love, but how much you are loved by others.' I always found that to be incorrect in my mind, until about 5 yrs ago. I now see in that statement, the St. Francis Prayer.

When i practice that, seems others are more attracted to me naturally. (Attraction, not promotion), rings a bell. I always felt i had to promote myself to be loved...

I thank God, and my fellow AAer's for helping me navigate life more clearly. Their time, and unselfishness has cleared a spiritual path for me to follow for the rest of my life, if i so choose. (Daily reprieve). So, a day at a time, i pick up the spiritual tools and i find most of the time, i am no longer confused or afraid. I'll always need God and AA, and it feels good to continue to be open minded and teachable.

Seeking Guidance

"Man is supposed to think, and act. He wasn't made in God's image to be an automaton. My own formula along this line runs as follows: First, think through every situation pro and con, praying meanwhile that I be not influenced by ego considerations. Affirm that I would like to do God's will. Then, having turned the problem over in this fashion and getting no conclusive or compelling answer, I wait for further guidance, which may come into the mind directly or through other people or through circumstances. If I feel I can't wait, and still get no definite indication, I repeat the first measure several times, try to pick out the best course, and then proceed to act. I know if I am wrong, the heavens won't fall. A lesson will be learned, in any case."

Ready to get involved in A.A.?

A.A. members work together to help the alcoholic who still suffers. Helping each other is a key to staying sober. There are many opportunities to participate in a variety of ways. The best place to start getting involved is through an A.A. group. Participating in a group helps ensure that when a person reaches out for help, A.A. will be available.

Tradition Nine: AA, as such, ought never be organized; but we may create service boards or committees directly responsible to those they serve.

- Do I still try to boss things in AA?
- Do I resist formal aspects of AA because I fear them as authoritative?
- Am I mature enough to understand and use all elements of the AA program – even if no one makes me do so – with a sense of personal responsibility?
- Do I exercise patience and humility in any AA job I take?
- Am I aware of all those to whom I am responsible in any AA job?
- Why doesn't every AA group need a constitution and bylaws?
- Have I learned to step out of an AA job gracefully – and profit thereby – when the time comes?
- What has rotation to do with anonymity? With humility?

Intergroup wants to express our appreciation for those groups and individuals who have made generous financial contributions, and give a special thank you to all the members who have volunteered their time this year to help the sick and suffering alcoholic.

Concept IX: Good service leadership at all levels is indispensable for our future functioning and safety. Primary world service leadership, once exercised by the founders, must necessarily be assumed by the trustees.

- Do we discuss how we can best strengthen the composition and leadership of our future trusted servants?
- Do we recognize the need for group officers? What is our criteria for election?
- Do we sometimes give a position to someone “because it would be good for them”?
- Do I set a positive leadership example?

7th tradition self-support contribution

Bill W. wrote of Intergroup Offices, "Though not costly, these agencies are absolutely essential to our continued expansion—to our survival as a Fellowship. Their costs are a collective obligation that rests squarely upon all of us. Our support of services actually amounts to a recognition on our part that AA. must everywhere function in full strength—and that, under our Tradition of self-support, we are all going to foot the bill"
